Studio Philosophy

The study of music has proven to have amazing benefits academically, socially, and emotionally. It brings joy to those studying it as well as to those with whom they share their talents. Luck Studios is committed to providing music instruction for students of all ages and levels of ability while also taking into account each student's learning style, goals and music preferences. This is done with positive and creative instruction that focuses on the joy that music can bring while also emphasizing the realities of daily practice.

Luck Studios Lesson Basics

Lessons

Lessons are offered in 45 or 60-minute slots from September through August. Each student receives one lesson per week at their regularly scheduled time. Students are considered enrolled for the entire year. If a student wishes to end their enrollment early a one-month notification is required.

In addition to their lesson time, I am also available by phone, email, or text during the week to assist any student if any questions arise during their practicing. I am always happy to help them!

All lessons will be held online until it is safe to return to the studio in-person. While I would prefer to have students coming to the studio, the necessary safety measures required (staying six feet apart at all times, wearing masks, cleaning the studio between each student) would make in-person lessons tedious and stressful for everyone. I want student's lessons to be fun and engaging as well as safe! At this time I believe I can accomplish those goals better online than in person. If you have any concerns about online lessons, please contact me so we can speak about it.

Daily Practicing

Lessons provide essential guidance and motivation but daily practicing is where the student improves their skills. While parts of practicing are fun, much of practicing is also work and should be approached in much like school homework. If you wouldn't skip your homework, don't skip your practicing! As students dedicate sufficient time to practicing they will find they enjoy their time at their instrument and have more fun using their newfound skills in whatever ways they choose.

To help them achieve their goals, students will be provided with weekly assignment sheets. The sheets are designed so that students know how they need to work and can keep track of their practice time each day. Please check in with students about their practicing and let me know if any issues arise. Luck Studios students and parents are always welcome to call, text, or email me any time if they have questions about their assignments or any other concerns regarding their music studies.

Absences and Make-up Lessons

Each student has two discretionary absences to take anytime during the year for any reason (please see Tuition at Luck Studios on the next page for more information on the discretionary absences). While I may hold one make-up day in the summer, make-up lessons for additional student absences beyond the two built-in are not guaranteed. Whenever possible I prefer to reschedule the lesson for a different time during the week. Please contact the studio in advance if you must miss a lesson and/or would like to request a lesson time change for that week. Any make-up lessons scheduled may be held via Zoom or Facetime.

Lessons will be taught online on inclement weather days whenever travel is not possible. Please call the studio if you have travel concerns.

Performances

Students are encouraged, not required, to participate in two studio recitals during the year, usually October and June. Other events, such as the National Federated Festival, are available to students through the studio. If a student would like to participate in a school talent show, church event or other performance I am happy to help them prepare for the event. Please let me know as early as possible so we have time to prepare. The more time given, the more likely they will have a successful performance!

Registration

A once-per-year registration fee of $50 is due each August to register for the upcoming school year. The fee is used for a variety of expenses during the year – primarily to maintain and update the lending library, provide computer lab and music theory materials for student use at the studio, and to cover recital expenses. The fee is halved if the student registers after December 20th.

Ending Enrollment Early

While I hope students will continue lessons for years to come, sometimes students must end their enrollment early. Please notify me at least one-month in advance if you need to end your enrollment. You will be responsible for all tuition owed through the end of the notification period. I always prefer to teach those lessons and provide a smooth transition for the student. I will send a prorated total with a detailed account of tuition owed and payments that have been made within one week of the notification.

Student Music Account

For your convenience the studio can purchase music and other supplies for students as needed. All students have the option to open a $30 music account. A record will be kept of all music expenses or other miscellaneous fees incurred. Accounts must be brought up to $30 in August ($50 for families). If a student terminates lessons, the unused account funds will be refunded once any remaining fees are subtracted. If you choose to waive this option any necessary music purchases will be your responsibility. If you are a continuing student you will receive a music account statement along with your registration form.

Students with Special Needs

Luck Studios accepts students with special needs and creates individualized adaptive lessons for the students. There may be an additional fee depending upon the amount of adaption needed for the student's success. Copies of the studio's Special Needs policy can be requested.

Tuition at Luck Studios

Tuition covers 37 lessons during the year from September through August. I schedule 39 teaching weeks which provides two discretionary absences for each student to use at any time during the year. If you do not miss any lessons during the year I am happy to offer those additional lessons at no extra charge. I also reserve two additional teaching weeks (Lessons 40 and 41) for the summer months – those lessons will be scheduled if I have had to cancel any lessons during the school year.

Tuition Options

This year I am offering four tuition payment options for your budgeting convenience: Quarterly, 10-month, 12-month, or Per-Lesson. The chart below includes both the total payment amount as well as the approximate per-lesson amount (in parenthesis) so that you can easily compare the pricing.

Tuition Amounts by Payment Schedule

Lesson Length	Quarterly Tuition	10-Month Tuition	12-Month Tuition	Per Lesson
45-minute	$390 ($42/lesson)	$160 ($43/lesson)	$140 ($45/lesson)	$50
60-minute	$510 ($55/lesson)	$208 ($56/lesson)	$180 ($58/lesson)	$68

- 12-Month Payment Option: Payments are due by the 10th of each month, September – August.
- 10-Month Payment Option: Payments are due by the 10th of each month, September – June. There are no tuition payments in July or August.
- Quarterly Tuition Payment Option: Payments are due by the 10th of September, December, March & June.
- Per Lesson Payment Option: Payments are due before each lesson begins. The studio registration fee is waived. Lessons are scheduled individually as the schedule allows. Please provide 24-hour notice of a lesson cancellation to avoid a cancellation fee.

The Benefit of Scheduled Tuition vs. Per-Lesson Payments

Rather than charging for the number of lessons attended each month, which can vary greatly, students pay for lessons over the course of a year in equal installments. This means the amount paid for lessons stays the same each payment regardless of how many lessons will occur during that time. Please indicate on the Registration Form which Payment Schedule you will use.

How to Make Payments

Payments may be made by check, cash, money order, or online through PayPal. Please mail or drop payments off at the studio. Payments may be made payable to Luck Studios or Samantha Luck. Many families have found it convenient to add Luck Studios to their bank's bill payment system so that they do not have to remember to send the payment each month. For online payments: please request a PayPal invoice. There will be a 3% processing fee added for online payments to cover the fees incurred by PayPal.

Tuition payments are due no later than the 10th of the month. Should I not receive your payment by the 10th of the month in which it is due, a $15.00 overdue fee will be added.

Other Helpful Information

Materials:

- A tote bag helps students stay organized, protects lesson materials, and makes sure everything arrives at the lesson each week. Even when students are attending lessons online, it is helpful for them to get into the habit of returning materials to their tote bag after each practice session. This keeps everything together and prevents books from disappearing or getting damaged.
- I will provide the student with a Luck Studios binder for assignment sheets. The student should keep all of their assignment sheets in the binder and bring it with them to lessons.
- A well-maintained instrument is essential when studying music! I am happy to recommend a good piano technician or guitar shop. Good-quality electric keyboards are adequate for many students. A full-size keyboard with 88 keys is preferred. Acoustic or electronic pianos are essential for late-intermediate and advanced students.
- All piano and guitar students must have short fingernails to promote healthy technique and prevent repetitive motion injuries.
- One often-forgotten but important tool for all musicians is a pencil with a good eraser. All students should have a pencil readily available during their practice sessions and lessons.
- Colorful post-it tabs for marking pages can also be very useful tools and cut down on the number of marks made directly on the music.

Other Studio Rules

- Parents of students are always welcome at lessons. Some students will work better when parents are not in the room, but even then I encourage parents to at least occasionally sit in on lessons or come in a few minutes before lessons are over to communicate with me about the student's progress.
- Please arrive for lessons and pick students up on time. If you will be late either dropping off or picking up a student please notify the studio by text or phone call. This helps keep the schedule running smoothly and prevents worry for both the student and the teacher.
- Please let me know in advance if a visitor is attending the lesson. If the visitor is under 18 an adult must also attend the lesson.
- Please do not hold cell phone or personal conversations in the studio during lessons. This is very distracting! Instead, please step outside or move to a vehicle to hold these conversations.
- I will send out additional information about setting up devices for online lessons. Currently I am set up to teach on Zoom or Facetime. Zoom provides a lot more flexibility in screen sharing and camera options and is my preferred platform at this time. I am happy to help you set up devices ahead of your lesson time – let me know if you need any assistance!
- Luck Studios reserves the right to add or modify policies at any time. Written notification will be given to parents and adult students whenever a policy is changed.
